The Joy of Dressage

ADU Dinner & DVD Night Saturday April 18, 2015 6pm hosted by Barb Shifrin 7150 County Rd 200 Liberty Hill, TX 78642

The joy of riding is getting pleasure as a rider out of being around horses, and reaching your own personal goals. Imparting the pleasure of that joint endeavor to one's horse, motivating the horse, is by far the most important goal in Uta Graf's training and equine husbandry. Be good to the horse. Impart pleasure with work. Develop fine riding with minimal aids. Riding with motivation and enthusiasm are important prerequisites to creating a partnership that is equally pleasurable for the horse.

For many riders, the climax to the joy of riding is to begin competing. Successful grand prix rider Uta Graf gives insights into her methods for preparing and beginning to compete built on training which respects the horse and its natural living conditions. Instruction will include training towards competition, at the competition, before the test, warming up, and finally, the test itself. Dressage riding for joy.
