“Training Studies”

with

Isabell Werth & Dr. Uwe Schulten-Baumer

In this video, horses of different ages and levels of experience are shown being trained by Isabell Werth and Dr. Uwe Schulten-Baumer, one of Germany’s great old classical dressage masters. Young horses must learn rhythm, natural pace, a sense of trust in the rider and develop harmony between horse and rider. As the horse develops, it must learn how to walk, trot and canter, flying change, pirouette, piaffe, and many other skills. As Isabell trains her horses to reach Grand Prix level with “Der Doktor’s” coaching, the viewer learns how to develop a communicating partnership with the horse, develop correct posture and style, and how to identify and correct common mistakes. Join us and learn from one of the most successful trainers and riders in the history of modern dressage!
